Victims' figures

The SJP found a provisional universe of
21.396* victims

4.325** are accredited in the SJP

* This figure results from cross-referencing all existing databases from the Office of the Attorney General, civil society organizations, and records of accredited victims.

** According to data from the Judicial Panel for Acknowledgment of Truth, as of September 2, 2025.

In which restorative projects will they work as part of the sanction?

Search for missing persons

Comprehensive action against landmines

Memory and symbolic reparation

Environment, nature, and territory

The defendants are sanctioned for 8 years:

This is the maximum time allowed by what was agreed in the Final Peace Agreement and what was established by the Political Constitution.

To identify those most responsible, the SJP received the observations that 795 victims made on what the defendants stated before the Judicial Panel for Acknowledgment of Truth, and 1.200 victims submitted written reports.

In addition, the SJP took testimony from 402 former members of the Farc-EP so that they could contribute truth about the kidnappings.

It also received, among others, reports from the Attorney General's Office and from civil society organizations.

Why did the SJP issue this ruling?

The defendants provided truth, acknowledged responsibility, and, to this date, have complied with their commitments under what was established in the Final Peace Agreement.
